It is well known that every detoxification or cleansing cure is only successfu

It is well known that every detoxification or cleansing cure is only successful if you drink enough water in the process. Less well known is that the success of the cure can be greatly influenced by the water used ...

It is well known that every detoxification or cleansing cure is only successful if you drink enough water in the process. Less well known is that the success of the cure can be greatly influenced by the water used. Unsaturated, "hungry" water that is cellular-available works best. Highly purified, revitalized water has the strongest dissolving power. It is low in minerals, free from microplastics, chemicals and medication residues, and thus has the highest capacity to absorb contaminants from cells and tissues and transport them away. The water then acts like a magnet, drawing toxins and waste products toward it and flushing them out.

Continue here

It's good.
to be truu.