Without adequate water supply, the zeolite clumps up, draws valuable body

Without adequate water supply, the zeolite clumps up, draws valuable body's own tissue water and acts clogging and dehydrating. Ultra-pure, mineral-poor water acts like a turbo in detoxification, ...

Without adequate water supply, the zeolite clumps up, draws valuable body's own tissue water and acts clogging and dehydrating. Ultra-pure, mineral-poor water acts like a turbo in detoxification, especially when the surface tension has been naturally reduced so much with the help of EM ceramic that cell membranes open "voluntarily" to the pure, energized water, so that the living water can flush out and transport away dead waste substances from the cell and from the tissue. You feel how these no longer burden your body from now on!

Zeolite is one of the simplest and most cost-effective detoxification methods that exists, which almost anyone can easily perform at home. The owners of the special refining filters, from which you can get the water for this purpose, as a rule demand nothing for it. If they do, it is a very modest amount.

The body flushes out zeolite with the help of water within 24 hours at the latest with a large amount of toxins. For every teaspoon of zeolite, drink a large glass of still water (300 - 400 ml) and drink 30 ml of water per kilogram of body weight spread throughout the day. At a weight of 60 kilograms, that would be 1.8 L of water.

A detailed description of the correct internal or external application options for zeolite as well as the duration of application can be found on page 12 of the attached description from "Health Center".

Feel yourself afterwards "more spirited", freer, more energized, healthy and simply good!

https://t.me/truuinfochannel

It's good.
to be truu.