Peter Brabeck-Letmathe, (88) Vice Chairman (after Klaus Schwab) of the ...

Peter Brabeck-Letmathe, (88) Vice Chairman (after Klaus Schwab) of the World Economic Forum (World Economic Forum, WEF). The former Chief Executive Officer of Nestlé made the brand "Nestlé Pure Life" the best-selling bottled water on Earth with the help of artificial mineral enrichment. ...

Peter Brabeck-Letmathe, (88) Vice Chairman (after Klaus Schwab) of the World Economic Forum (World Economic Forum, WEF). The former Chief Executive Officer of Nestlé made the brand "Nestlé Pure Life" the best-selling bottled water on Earth with the help of artificial mineral enrichment. Globally, the beverage industry advertises "valuable minerals" in their waters, yet independent experts refer to minerals in drinking water as contamination with serious health consequences. Minerals in drinking water are not available to the body for metabolism, hinder detoxification, and cause numerous diseases as well as premature aging. Expert statements, book recommendations, videos at: https://t.me/truuinfochannel

It's good.
to be truu.