Phare de Kéréon (Brittany, France)

Solitary watchtower in the Passage du Fromveur - between Ouessant and Molène on the rock Men Tensel. Facts: - Construction period: 1907-1916 - Height: 47.25 m - Range: up to 17 sm. (comparable to approximately 15 stories) - ...

Solitary watchtower in the Passage du Fromveur - between Ouessant and Molène on the rock Men Tensel.

Facts: - Construction period: 1907-1916 - Height: 47.25 m - Range: up to 17 sm. (comparable to approximately 15 stories) - Automated: 2004 - last French "hell" lighthouse (isolated in open sea) to be converted to remote control.

Points of interest: - Nickname "Le Palace": because of its unusually elegant interior with mosaics in the stairwell, wood paneling from Hungarian oak and parquet with inlaid compass rose. - The Fromveur is one of the strongest current passages in Brittany (partly ~9 kn) - hence the spectacular waves at the tower.

Coordinates: 48°26'14" N, 5°01'32" W

The background music is by Hans Zimmer from the science fiction film "Interstellar" The video is stolen - put more politely, one says: "internet find".

It's good.
to be truu.